ALC is Awarded ACC Contract

The Air Combat Command has officially announced that AllWorld Language Consultants (ALC) has been awarded the new contract for linguistic support in Southwest Asia. This unprecedented award could not have been possible without the performance and continuous support of the teams of linguists that have already been deployed to the region for the past three years, as well as the company's internal restructuring procedures that have been carried out for the past few months. The new contract encompasses a basic period of five years with additional option years. ALC is honored to be of continued service to the Department of Defense, and in particular as a participant in the GSA Schedule, under which this contract was awarded.

ALC anticipates incorporating several changes that will enhance performance in the region, while at the same time increase supervision, accountability, and open lines of communication between the client, our teams of linguists, and the company's management. As such, the company has established programs designed to maintain continuity and create the most professional and reliable team of linguists available.

ALC's management anticipates visiting the region very soon in order to comply with the phase-in period, and the company guarantees uninterrupted service between now and the start-up date of April 1, 2001.

The Board of Directors and the entire management team at headquarters would like to congratulate each and every one of those individuals who participated in the offer submitted to the Government, as well as the linguists in the region and the invaluable guidance received from GSA counselors and outside consultants.
